BEACH BIOLOGY AND BREAKERS

By: Camp Sea Lab

Grab your sunscreen and get ready for a week of beach fun! Spend each day hanging out on the beach, surfing and splashing in the waves, and learning about this amazing sandy environment. Explore the unique adaptations of creatures that share our love for the ocean by observing marine mammal lifestyles from a kayak tour around the Monterey harbor, digging for critters in the swash zone, and exploring the diverse shorebird species that thrive on the edge of the sea. Hop on a boat and search for whales in Monterey Bay, then participate in conservation activities that show us how humans can work to protect this wonderful environment. Campers must be able to swim.

Activities: surfing basics (2 days - gear provided), whale watching, kayaking, boogie boarding, invertebrate biology, sand crab studies, shorebird observations, marine mammals, and marine conservation activities

Dates: July 21st-25th

Location: 3-Day at Del Monte Beach, 2-Day at Casa Verde Beach
